Utopia video doorphone.
A brave new world,
right in your home

Urmet has turned its attention to all those who enjoy furnishing and designing the décor of their home, who dedicate scrupulous attention to even the most minor details in order to achieve perfect balance, so that everything is always in the right place. Convinced that, on many occasions, it is details that make all the difference. Therefore, being able to choose a video doorphone that embodies Urmet's passion for technological innovation combined with a refined, highly original design could seem a utopia. Today, Urmet Utopia brings this desire to life. Utopia is much more than a video doorphone. It stands for style, elegance, the desire to astonish and fascinate. Utopia stems from the drawing-board of architect De Lucchi. Admire its smooth, uncluttered lines and revel in the unusual combinations of materials and colors. Then, imagine it on your wall. Utopia now exists.

Design and Technology.

Choose Utopia and give free rein to your desire for avant-garde design, certain that you will be taking home state-of-the-art video doorphone technology. Its 4" TFT display guarantees bright, perfect viewing from any angle.

The call loudspeaker is separate from that of the hand-set with the possibility of regulating call volume. Activating the Mute function, a green led lights up on the on the monitor. The door release key is backlit and remains on while the display is lit. A red led alerts you that the door may have been left open. All monitor controls such as color, brightness and contrast are adjustable. Utopia features 3 keys for supplementary services such as opening of a secondary door or switching on of the stair lights. With Urmet's forefront technology, you can also connect several monitors in parallel, set up intercom systems with up to 4 appliances.

Utopia has another unequalled advantage: absolutely trouble-free installation with no need to demolish walls for embedding. Just use the specific brackets and hey presto your system is installed.

Utopia by Urmet: state-of-the-art technology and exquisite design.

A step beyond even your wildest dreams.
